Paul –

This is the position that Julie Abraham previously had at NHTSA. This position has been vacant for ~ 4 years. It includes 2 areas at NHTSA: Fuel Economy, and also International Standards.

Jim Tamm I believe is currently acting in this position.

So yes, this is a position that we have interacted closely with over the years.

Thought I would pass along this opening that was just shared from NHTSA.

I wanted to notify you of an executive leadership vacancy in the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA). We want to attract a diverse pool of candidates from within and outside the government who can bring strong executive skills to the position of Director, Office of International Policy, Fuel Economy and Consumer Programs.

The Director, Office of International Policy, Fuel Economy and Consumer Programs in NHTSA's Rulemaking Office will provide national leadership and senior level management in planning and implementing NHTSA's consumer programs, international policy and regulatory matters for harmonization of motor vehicles and advancing the nation's Corporate Average Fuel Economy program. This includes developing and promulgating safety and fuel economy standards and regulations for motor vehicles as well as agency actions and publications in support of the Anti-Theft and other consumer programs for vehicles. The incumbent also serves as an advisor to the Associate Administrator on matters relating to NHTSA's international policy of motor vehicle standards, regulation and trade agreements.

This position is located in Washington, DC and the vacancy is open from November 1 thru November 30, 2016.

If you know someone who has outstanding leadership qualities and may be interested in this position, the announcement details and instructions on how to apply can be accessed at the following USAJOBS link: <https://www.usajobs.gov/GetJob/ViewDetails/455102200>
